INTRODUCTION
As a tool in communication nowadays, English is not only used by natives, but also many communities. The differences of use English is in their purposes. So that, there are many parts of English which are related to the purposes, such as ESP (English for Specific Purpose), ESL (English For Second Language), EFL (English For Foreign Language), etc.

In this study, writers concern with the instruction of English in Non-English Department. The instruction of English in Non-English Department in Indraprasta PGRI University is still using General English for their syllabus. Whereas, General English fundamentally is not related to students’ needs in non-English program because they do not need to learn four basic skills in English only in one term. If this condition still running, they still think of English is difficult because the output of the study is listening, speaking, reading, and writing. Moreover, the most of them have less vocabulary and grammar which are basic in English. It is based on visual design communication program students’ perception by using questionare were undertaken by writers. Most of them think that the material is not suitable with their carrier. Other fact is, their mid terms scores which is taken from their lecturer is average 55. So that, it will be big problem if the students themself to enrich their ability in English.

In fact, students realize that English is important for their future. Therefore, they have to change their attitude, motivation, and behavior in learning English. Many factors can convert their behavior. One of them is English material in their classroom. The lecturer should realize that the students need English for achieving their goals. So that, they need English to specific purpose, because mastery in English is not their goals. That is why English lecturer in non-English program should know which materials that should students must have related to major that they have chosen.

Related to the situations given, the writers assume that changing the syllabus is needed to improve students’ of non-English department vocabulary. If the lecturer focus in the objective which is needed by the students, the students will encourage themself to learn English actively because they must have to enrich themself for the future. After that, the lecturer can use media which is close to students. In this study, the writers use ESP materials and implement the materials by using website. Website is chosen because it is close to visual design communication program because the most of subjects using internet, website, software. Hopefully, by using website, students can increase their scores in English specially in vocabulary.

Based on the definitions above, it can be concluded that website is a central location of various web pages that are all related and can be accessed by visiting the home page using a browser. It has many purposes which depended by who the intended audience is. Some websites are geared towards selling products and other websites are geared towards providing practical information, while others are merely for entertainment.

Related to the purpose, the writers used website because in website, the students would learn English in less pressure because the most of them tend to use media in learning. Besides, they could repeat the material by doing the exercise everytime they need.

Definition Vocabulary
Vocabulary is one of important ability that person should have in learning language, specially in English. If someone having great vocabulary, it means he would be has various vocabulary and can implement it in speaking, reading, and writing related to context. As Keown dan Beck (2003) in Nunan (2006:122), “It is important to use both formal and informal vocabulary instruction that engages students ‘cognitive skill’ and gives opportunities for the learners to actually use the words.” So that, lectures or teacher can enhance students’ vocabulary to improve the students’ skill in English. After having a lot of vocabulary, the students will tent to be confident applying their vocabulary in four skills naturally. If they have lack vocabulary, the students tent to be passive and feel anxious in learning English.

Based on the linguist argument, it can be concluded that vocabulary is important in learning English because reflecting one’s ability in language. It can be an indicator whether someone can understand what he is listening, doing speaking, reading, and writing. If some one has skills in English, it means he has enough vocabulary to express his English in four skills in English.

Because of it, the writers encouraged students to enhance their vocabulary because they should use English for their job. Visual design communication program is one of program which uses English in most of their implementation. They are required able in reading program which operated in English, speaking in good pronunciation, etc. Therefore, the lecturer should select which vocabulary that refers to students’ should have by drilling or practicing in classroom. So that, they looked familiar of it.

Theoretical Framework

Related to the discussions above, the writers design courses which reflect the materials which needed by visual design communication program students. Related to Dudley-Evans and St. John (1998), who identified four steps, they are: 1) need analysis, 2) course, 3) material selection, 4) teaching and learning evaluation.

METHODOLOGY

The research uses qualitative data to find out credible data which have been confirmed by the writers. Then, the writers analyze the data which have been taken. The research is conducted in visual design communication program in first grade students that consisted by 45 students. The procedure of collecting the data:
1. Writers observed by getting mid term scores.
2. Writers checked the syllabus designed.
3. Writers found out the need analysis of using ESP materials by using questionare.
4. Writers analyzed the data.
5. Writers grouped the data.
6. Writers designed syllabus and the course.
7. The writer developed the material which students need.
8. The writer evaluated the students’ result

FINDINGS AND DISCUSSION

Need Analysis

The writer uses questionare to find out the student’s need. The indicators related to Ahmad H.P are: 1) Benar dan aktual, 2) Penting untuk dipelajari, 3) Bermanfaat dalam kecakapan hidup, 4) Layak dipelajari, 5) Menarik minat.

Related to data which confirmed by the writers:
1. Based on the validity and reliability of designing test, one item is not valid. So, it can be summarized that all the items covered the needs of the students.
2. The reliability of the instrument is 0.894. It means coefficient of reliability is high.
3. 70% students thought the materials are not related to the major.

Course Design

The writers choose the themes and find out the objective of the study which is encourage students’ vocabulary mastery. The course is conducted in three times in classroom and using media in practice. The writers can find out students’ skill in reading comprehension, speaking, and writing.

Material Selection

The writers have set the materials in website including the objective, text, and exercises related to the material that chosen in website, named “inggris123”. The function of this website is accommodating and facilitating the students in improving their English vocabulary.

Teaching and Learning Evaluation

After instruction, writers got evaluation from the students for knowing their concerning in learning English through website by doing interview. There are five questions and the students can answer it directly refers to their satisfaction, their interest, their need, their achievement, and their suggestions.

Based on the students’ answers, 80 percents of students enjoy this course and can increase their vocabulary naturally because they do not get high pressure in doing exercise. In one time, they can memorize the words because in practising they should remember the words to continue or finish the exercise.

CONCLUSION

Based on the procedures that has been through, the writers can conclude:

1. Changing the syllabus by using ESP syllabus improve students’ perspective in learning English vocabulary at non English program. In ESP, lecturer has select the materials which are related to their major or job in the future. So that, the students will be familiar in it and can explore their skill in English related to their job. They need English to support their carrier and ability to find out their needed job.

2. After changing the syllabus, lecturer should change the material and using related media to improve students’ ability especially in vocabulary. Website can be one of media which is close to the students who visual design communication program. They tent to love something related to technology or update information. It is caused by they are required to be multimedia designer who is always in up to date condition.

3. The implementation materials in website in Non-English Department influences students’ perspective in learning English vocabulary. In fact, 80% of the students enjoy in learning and get the benefits of applying it in the classroom.
